Overview

Johnson and Johnson welcomes you to our Gynecological Oncology Advanced Cadaver Workshop. This unique event will challenge the limits of gynecological oncology surgery, by addressing a whole spectrum of complex surgeries from radical hysterectomy to liver resection. In addition to experts in gynaecological oncology, the faculty will comprise experts in urological and GI surgery who will share their surgical knowledge and skill and discuss improving collaboration in a multidisciplinary team.

The event has been uniquely designed to combine lectures and video sessions with an extensive cadaver lab over 2 days, inviting a truly interactive teaching experience that would not have been possible in a real-life surgery.

We look forward to welcoming gynaecological and surgery oncology residents from around the country who would like to reach the next level of expertise by advancing their knowledge of abdomino-pelvic surgery.
